

Dyfi Gin

HISTORY

Cameron brothers, Pete and Danny, opened the Dyfi Micro-Distillery in 2015, located in wild Wales' only UNESCO World Biosphere Reserve. Pete and Danny hand-forage for botanicals (10 1/2 months out of the year) which showcase the brightness of wildflower meadows, the freshness of the estuary and the richness of Dyfi Forest. They cryo-vac what is needed for planned production. Precision-distilled with more than 25 botanicals, using the London Dry method. Dyfi Gin is whimsical and enchanting, deliberately progressive in its flavor profile, and will have you day dreaming of what life must be like in the Dyfi valley. It's a sleeping dragon waiting to be discovered by gin fans.

TASTING NOTES

Delicious aromas conjure intense images of grassy fields and summer meadows. This isn't a sappy, juniper forward gin; rather it feels like a modern interpretation of the spirit, sitting on the more grassy end of juniper's spectrum. It's a botanically-rich, naturally-flavored spirit and arguably has one of the most distinct aromas of any gin on the market. With tonic, savory botanicals capture the gin, resulting in a bier and incredibly vegetal G&T. Hints of rocket and bramble leaves coat the tongue, reminding you of a hothouse on a summer's day. The juniper remains on the green, clean and grassy end of its capacity, while the overall impression is of a vibrant, blossoming and impactful flavor.
